

Oulu University of Applied Sciences, Finland
Paulius Bundza, Faculty of Electronics and Informatics

While still in high school, I dreamed of seeing as many countries as possible and getting as many impressions as possible. After joining Vilnius College, Faculty of Electronics and Informatics, I had such an opportunity. I am now a sophomore in information systems. During the first semester of the course, I was given the opportunity to study under the Erasmus + program in another country. I received an offer to go to Finland, Oulu University of Applied Sciences. I went there with anxiety and impatience.

When I arrived, I was greeted by cooler weather than in Lithuania and a large group of friendly students from many countries. I was given very good living conditions. I was fascinated by the Finnish people themselves and their culture. It is an incredibly beautiful country with beautiful nature and the most beautiful northern lights. The education system in the country is extremely strong, making learning quite difficult but very interesting. Teachers provide interesting lecture material and always help when something is not understood. I would go abroad again if the opportunity arose and I would advise for others too!
